Does Mr.Perfect really exist? According to mythology, a perfect man once existed. His name was Adam. There is no such thing as a perfect person. Everyone has their flaws. I use to have a long list of the perfect person I wanted to be my partner, it was too unrealistic. Now I'm happy and content with the person I am with. He is my imperfect perfect person.

Perfect is an achievable, unrealistic, and impractical ideal that leads people to project their fantasies onto real scenarios and people. SO don't create idols. Don't disappoint yourself. If you can't change the situation, change your attitude towards it. Do you, guys agree with me?

Finding Mr.perfect is not so easy but yes they exist who can be called as your Mr. Perfect. They are those peoples who love their spouse more than themselves and are remain always ready to do anything for her. And Yes, "When you really feel such pure love, it's hard not to imagine the remainder of your life with that other person. And there are a lot of fantastic things about being married. Nobody is perfect and you should know it and accept that fact. If you can't take it then you'll never be happy with someone

I think we all may found our best match. These people are ready for partnering and happy about each others success, it's called true love, when you are accepted the way you really are. Worldofforecasts is a nice source to look for answers in this matter. When people are compatible they easily drawn to each other.
