The thing about online dating is, most of the new dating sites on the Internet now free or paid. Think that just because you have to compete with all of the other well known name dating sites. You have to buy or purchase fake profiles, that is 100% unfair to the members who sign up for their service especially for a paid service. For example I do reviews on dating sites to see which one's are fake. If you have never heard of a dating site especially if it isn't free then if they have millions of members, they don't offer trial service or they need your credit card then it's more than likely fake profiles. On the other hand if they offer a trial service, it's 100% free or they don't have millions of users then you can believe that site is 100% authentic with its members. Remember dating sites that say they have millions chances are you have heard of it before, but if you have not but like the name and what you see but they do not have a lot of members then those are the sites that will have real profiles and the best chances for you to meet someone. The two newest online dating sites I have researched are FaithFulMeeting Dating Cafe Lounge Both are 100% Free they are very new so they have real profiles, but the best thing about these two new sites you keep your page position no matter how many people sign up after you. If its a million people who sign up after you and when you signed up you where 2nd, then that's where you will remain until you unregister.

A lot of people dismiss the concept of free online dating, thinking that free sites are a total waste of time and they can't offer you anything. Of course, it is true that there is numerous of free dating sites that you'd better do not use this sources, but actually it is that there are some really worth ones that compare well with even the best paid dating sites. Predominantly free dating sites still earn money; they simply make it through ads rather than charging for signing up. They need to have people visiting the site, to be successful, thus it is pretty much in their interests to give a service that will attract new members and keep the coming back. So why should I pay more? Information should be free and available.

Of course, you can argue with me that according to the statistic messages sent to pay sites were 46.9% more likely to get a response than those sent to free sites, of the successful messages, those sent to pay sites were 44% more likely to end in a date.

Finally, it stands to reason that if you've shelled out your hard-earned dollars for something, you're going to take it more seriously than if you got it for free. Free sites are perfect for playing around, people with nothing better to do can set up joke profiles to amuse themselves, or just set one up to see what the online dating rage is all about and then forget about it.

If you like the idea of trying online dating but are not sure if it is for you, then free dating sites are a great way to give it a go without having to spend any money. So thanks to LiveDating.me and LiveDateSearch.com for the private life!! What do u think guys?
