We haven't talked each other for more than 2 years, but her number was inculcated on my mind, don't need to save, i still remember. Hesitating a bit, I answered her phone, memories were returned on my mind. The happy and fun days when we still loved together. But now, she isn't belong with me. When drinking iced tea, my friends always teasing each other that: " There are 2 possibilities for ex-lover to call, one is invited to her wedding, and other is making you be poured shell people. I just think and laughed aimlessly but she called to invite me to her wedding. I came late on her wedding, because i don't want to see her at her home. I go to her husband's house with her. I just want to send gifts to congratulate her family, but my heart control rational, so I go to her home..

Everyone at least once felt what being heartbroken means. But despite everything you have to collect yourself and move on. Let past be the past. And I want to suggest you to read this article, if your past still bothers you

But it would be better if you did not attend that ceremony. To refresh the past memories is not a good idea if you can't control your emotions.

You shouldn't have attended the wedding of your ex-girlfriend. Especially when you're still into her. You should move on cause she already did and already married.

Since you have already attended the wedding, just move on and be happy for her. There's no point holding on with the feeling coz she's already married bro control your feelings, she is no more in your life as a partner, maybe you can be a good friend of hers.

don't think too much about her and move on.

I had ex 3 years ago, she still didn't moved on. I think she's still hoping that I come back to her. But that's not gonna happen.
