i met a girl in a party and i was having a conversation with her. suddenly I saw a picture of her and her friend in her Iphone. I remember my friend told me to compliment her friends if i get the opportunity, he said that's part of attraction. So I told her that her friend is really pretty and then she asked "what about me?" what am I supposed to say?? should I compliment her or that would turn her off? what attracts women when you're having a conversation with them?

The tone of your voice should be soft and low. ...
Lean as close to her as possible while talking. ...
Try to be witty and make her laugh. ...
Compliment her with simple yet effective words. ...
Utilize suggestive questions in a smart manner

Noy only boldness))

I think no one believes words nowadays. You have to try to impress with your actions. :)
