How do we usually meet new people?

Here are a few popular options:

At work

In a bar, club, a party

Our friends introduce us each to other

Instant Messaging search

Online Dating sites

Let's briefly review some advantages and disadvantages and rate them from 1-poor to 5-the best.

Let's put the following criterias on our scorecard.

START: How easy it is to start talking?

SURVIVE: How easy it is to withstand a rejection?

TRUST: How can I trust that the partner is really the person who he/she is claimed to be?

ROMANCE: Does it lead to really romantic relationships?

* At work

START: 3 - difficult to find what to talk about, sometimes we have to work.

TRUST: 4 We know our colleagues others quite well... but there still can be a surprise

ROMANCE: 3 Not really... it's more about friendship

SURVIVE: 3 colleagues can find out about you..

* In a bar, club, a party

START: 3 loud music, noise... difficult to find what to talk about..

TRUST: 3 It's really to hard to be sure...

ROMANCE: 3 It's rather more about one-night-stand then long-term relationships.

SURVIVE: 4 you'll have to go to the other place...

* Our friends introduce us each to other

START: 4

TRUST: 5 A friend can guarantee

ROMANCE: 4 Again... it could lead you to friendship.

SURVIVE: 4 Usually we can not be friends anymore... and our common friend may suffer.

* Online Dating sites

START: 5 Just drop a message!

TRUST: 4 If his/her profile is fully completed then you could know about the one even more than ROMANCE: 5 If a person goes to an online dating website and creates a profile – he/she is really focused on dating.. not friendship. Otherwise you can read about it in one's profile.

SURVIVE: 5 Easy come – easy go!

Thanks for the dating tips. If it only was so easy, follow these few steps. But I guess it's a good start. One shouldn't only sit home and wait for love, right?

Anonymous wrote on Wed, 21 May 2008 14:50: I highly recommend sites which have huge data bases.

It's not a great idea to join in a site where there are no matches or having a poor data base.

That's a good point! How is it possible to know in advance tho?

I think most us are amenable to meet new people to love through online dating because it is the easier way in finding your match! It is costless because you don't need to travel to other part of the world just to find him/her. With the help of those dating site, you can browse thousands of profile of different people.

If you are interested with Asian people, you can try Asian dating through Asian dating site. Where millions of Asian are there. You can choose whom you want to meet personally by selecting who among them you are interested of.

the mall, the club, basically anywhere where there's other people around. everyone is a potential friend.

join some kind of activity, club, or sport. that way, you'll meet people that you automatically know you have something in common with.

and don't knock someone that's older than you. having older friends is a whole new ballpark, but sometimes it's a really good thing to have friends of different ages.

whenever you go out with friends you have now, tell them to bring someone else along! it's almost guaranteed you guys will all talk to each other, and you'll probably become friends with your friend's friends too.

basically, get out there. get involved in something, be active, and put yourself out there. just because somebody doesn't look like they'd be your friend b/c of age, looks, clothes, activities they like, etc, doesn't mean they can't be. just go for it.

hope i helped!

Have you tried online dating siteS?

There are a few cool (and free) sites I've used in the past and they're a pretty good option, sites like Zoosk and OkCupid. I personally prefer online dating sites because I find they are more private and that they are far less stressful then the bar scene for example.. You can go online to find and compare dating sites and I'm sure you'll find what you're looking for...

Cheers!

Finding the right romantic partner is often a difficult journey, for several reasons. Perhaps you grew up in a household where there was no role model of a solid, healthy relationship and you doubt that such a thing even exists.It's also important to recognize that relationships are never perfect and always require lots of work, compromise, and a willingness to resolve conflict in a positive way.

There is no answer "Where to meet new people for love?" just as there is no answer to the question "How...?".

Or maybe we just choose the wrong strategy? Behave like inappropriate, looking for somewhere not there or is not looking for, but instead humbly waiting for the prince sitting near the window? Where to find love?

Meanwhile, our love passes across us, very close, gently touching your shoulder to the subway, giving the cool breath of the breeze in the park on Sunday, sending you "Hello! How are you?" In the ICQ. Why did we lose these chances? What is the fear?

I agree with you kim. Also, I have thought to give it a shot to online dating. I have been in a relationship for 5 years and it's pretty hard to jump into another relationship. That is why I found the online dating thing pretty good to start over again. I am very shy and so it's easier for me to connect with people.

At the moment I will recommend badoo.com and arilove.com, I have profiles on both sites and I had interesting conversation with people around my area.
Good luck!

I am American guy lived in Ukraine for 4 years, Moscow for 1 year. It was quite difficult to meet someone and create relations. To tell the truth I cannot get acquaintance somewhere on streets, cafes or bars.... I think nowadays the best way to meet your love is to use dating sites. Though I used many sites and was a little disappointed in each of them.... finally found mariya-club. It was recommended as one with no scammers, only real well educated and family oriented ladies. So I took a chance and got acquainted with my present Ukrainian wife there. I met some ladies and all of them were really nice and serious. I would say mariya-club is the best one for those who want to marry nice Slavic woman

One simple search query separates you from the answer. All you need to do is to google best place(your town) to meet single and voila. You just need to go somewhere outside your apartment and half of the job is done. Or if you don't like socializing than you can try to register on online dating site and start playing that game. Anyway, options are there, all you need to do is to have courage to actually make your first step. Good luck!

Obviously when he said on which dating site he met his future wife I was a little surprised to say at least. But I guess he wasn't afraid to try new things and was rewarded for that. If you have social problems, than you have huge ammount of dating sites in your disposal, so all you need to have is a desire to try new things and not be afraid to make first move. Good luck to everyone!!!

Usually at working place or introduced by family and friends. I have found some interesting men in some of the sites online but It's quite risky so it's still best to read reviews at afriendfinder (just check from google). If you're keen enough choosing a date, then you can get lucky with dating sites.

Online dating sites should be first on the list. Why? Because it is the fastest, easiest, most interesting, offers a wide range of people, there is a dating site for every type of person and you can search from home. You search by interests, age, a location, those things you cannot know in advance before you meet some person in real. I highly recommend online dating because the number of users which is increasing every day, tell us about how successful it could be, also the number of success stories from online dating also shows that it is worth to try.

I think that there are many places for meeting new people: work, university, library, bars and so on. It depends on what kind of life you're leading. When I started meeting people, I was a little bit shy, so I started with casual date. Now I can meet with people easily. Just be careful about different clubs and bars, they're not so safe. I like that during online dating, you don't need to be afraid of a person. First, you can get acquainted with him/her, talk for some days, and then go for a date. For me it`s the best option not to spend time for a bad match.
